This tour will be at the Brüeprint brewery in Apex and hosted by Brad Fogleman and Reid Huntley.

Brüeprint Brewing Company opened its doors in Apex, NC in the Spring of 2014 with Brad Fogleman as the head brewer. With a background education in Textile Engineering and several years spent both as a home brewer and commercial brewer, Brad brings together science, mathematics, and ingenuity to each Brüe he constructs. His unique and varied recipe craftsmanship is noticed in each Brüe served - classic, true to style, with a unique twist.

Reid Huntley heads up their commercial wholesale department. Despite the differences in his previous and current employment, his experience as a licensed PE working on municipal storm water designs laid the foundation for his current role as a beer rep. With a background of 6 years spent in civil engineering design, Reid utilizes his experience in design analysis and presentation of results (public meetings, reporting results to municipal leaders, etc.) into interacting with potential customers. Ever since his career change, he has found a passion in guiding and educating others about the brewing process, while helping to get Brüeprint on tap across Wake County.
