The International Conference on Accelerating Biopharmaceutical Development (AccBio) series is dedicated to strategies, technologies and capabilities that reduce the time & cost of developing high quality biologic medicines. The conference is distinct in that it covers all aspects of biological process development bringing together senior thought leaders from across multiple disciplines.

The themes of AccBio 2025 will be "AI and digital tools for accelerating Biopharma Development & Manufacturing, accelerating Formulation Development, and Sustainability". Session topics will include acceleration scenarios for promising drugs; development approaches for varied modalities and markets; ensuring delivery of quality product; leveraging prior knowledge to augment cost and timelines; and continuous/integrated process strategies.
